Store meals in freezer until ready to use. Best practice is to defrost meals in fridge overnight.

If already defrosted, life the lid on one side and microwave on high for 2 minutes, if more heating is required, heat for 30 seconds at a time until the right temperature is reached.

If still frozen, life the lid on one side and microwave on defrost for five minutes, then microwave on high for two minutes, if more heating is required, heat for 30 seconds at a time until the right temperature is reached.
